ITALY MAY WITHDRAW

CONTROVERSY WITH JUGO-SLAVIA OVER CITY OF FUME REACHES CRISIS.

By the Associated Press

PARIS, March 21.—The Italian delegation to the peace conference has unanimously decided to withdraw from the conference unless the port of Fiume, on the eastern coast of the Adriatic, is assigned to Italy contemporaneously with the conclusion of the peace treaty. This decision of the Italian delegation, as reported from Paris, apparently brings to a head the bitter controversy that arose between Italy and the new state of Jugoslavia after the collapse of Austria over the disposition of territories along the Adriatic formerly belonging to the Austro-Hungarian empire and which both nationalities claim.

There has been no disposition on the part of Italy to make concessions where Fiume was concerned, although it is reported that she has signified a willingness to modify her original claim to the entire Dalmatian coast, which was promised her in a secret treaty during the early days of the war when the great powers agreed among themselves on the disposition of various territories when the Central Empires were defeated. The entry of the United States and Wilson's doctrine of self-determination by the nationalities affected complicated the settlement along the lines originally mapped out by the European members of the entente, and apparently the appeals made to Italy by the Italians have not been received altogether favorably.

The decision was reached at a meeting today of the full delegation presided over by Premier Orlando. It was immediately communicated to the powers. Colonel E. M. House of the American mission promised Premier Orlando to present within a few days a project concerning the Italian Jugoslavia frontier which he hopes will satisfactorily settle the dispute.

BOTH HOUSES TAKE UP ROAD MEASURE

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 21.—The $50,000,000 road bill is due for final passage by both houses of the legislature.

Way for passage of the bill was paved yesterday when the conference report on the measure was made to the senate. Action was deferred until today to give time for printing of the conference report, which contains twenty-seven typewritten pages.

The conference report is not subject to amendment and legislature leaders regard it as certain that the bill will pass finally today. They say it must pass if any road legislation gets through and assert that enough votes have been pledged to give the measure easy sailing in both houses.

In addition to presenting an entirely new system of routes in many respects, the conference bill provides several new features regulating the sale of bonds, the administration of the road fund and the maintenance of the roads.

The special election for voting on the $50,000,000 bond issue is fixed for May 16 in the bill; however, the governor is given the right to set a new date should anything prevent the holding of an election on this date.

The administration of the road measure is placed in a commission of five, appointed by the governor of which the governor is to be chairman. Two of the other members are to be republicans and two democrats. They will receive a salary of $5,000 a year.

Sale of bonds in the first year after the date of authorization is limited to $6,000,000, for the second year, $16,000,000 and for the third year, $16,000,000 and for the third year, $30,000,000.

Two thirds of the gross production tax and two-thirds of the automobile license tax will go into the road fund, by the bill.

Division of the state into ten "convenient sections" in which road building shall begin and be prosecuted simultaneously is provided.

FRANCE NEEDS RHINE FRONTIER

FOCH SAYS WAR FOUGHT IN VAIN UNLESS RIVER IS MILITARY FRONTIER.

By the Associated Press

PARIS, March 21.—"The Rhine is our only good line of defense. I do not demand the annexation of German territories west of this river, but if we do not secure that as a military frontier, we will have fought the war in vain," is the statement by Marshal Foch, quoted in an interview printed in the Matin today.

NAPIER SEPARATE SCHOOL.

With the announcement of Superintendent J. E. Hickman to discontinue Saturday school work to give pupils an opportunity to assist at home in the gardens, there was much excitement and general satisfaction among parents. The children who have access to garden plots will, as many did last year, put in their school days. The plot on the school campus is being operated by school children.

For a large scale in the work we are prevented because of limited space. All available plots in nearness to the school have been taken. This is a real case anxious to do and nothing to do with.

Every child that is large enough is expected to do something in the way of work during the vacation and keep an account of his or her earnings and savings and report at the opening of school next fall.

The attendance of Saturdays has been but little less than of regular school days. The parental interest and co-operation has been very commendable.

The school has been honored with many prominent men of their race as well as several from among the white race.

Superintendent Hickman's official visits have had a very pleasing effect upon the student body and his interest in the welfare of the school has been all that could be expected. The visit of County Superintendent Floyd, too, added interest and inspiration.

In face of war activities on part of the school children—an appreciated patriotic duty—which has brought home many noble truths and lessons for our boys and girls which will be the guiding thoughts of many of their lives—flu, measles, mumps, and chicken pox, the attendance has been excellent. The recent census shows a scholastic enrollment of 129, since the taking of the same parents have moved in with better than two dozen children, and with the opening of the new addition the population will have doubled itself.

At present 121 are enrolled in school, twenty-eight of this number temporarily enrolled with the Athens school, located beyond the cement plant. This makes an enrollment of 86 percent of the population of the district.

A spirit of go to church and to Sunday school every Sunday has worked to the high moral tone of the school.

Aside from the regular routine of daily class work children are given cardinal instructions in principles of neatness, politeness, and courtesy. The school is now well graded, under excellent discipline, and home-like appearance as well as crowded. There has developed a better understanding between parents and teachers. The work of a conscientious teacher does not stop in the schoolroom; the parents are being made to not only see but feel that teachers are deeply interested in them beyond the dollar.

The sewing class under the direction of the assistant teacher in connection with her other duties is progressing nicely.

There is no question that the school will need an additional teacher next year in order to keep up the very high class of work now being carried on.

Co-operation With Rural Teachers. The teacher is the greatest molding factor of public sentiment in the world, yet the least appreciated and poorest financed or paid. More is expected of him; he is the social director, the source of varied information—in the rural section often the minister at funerals.

It has been the plan to arouse the county separate school children through the rural teachers to the end of encouraging boys and girls' clubs and encourage the raising of poultry and work individual plots of farm apportioned by parents—but unfortunately we did not have the class that had the "arousment" in them. As the result the rural separate schools have closed even without the monthly teachers' meeting.

Very respectfully,
I. B. McCUTCHEON.

MONSTER PLANE COMES TO TOWN

DE HAYLAND, MANNED BY LIEUTENANT GAULT, COMES TO RENDER SUCCOR.

Many citizens of Ada had their first opportunity this morning to observe one of the famous and powerful De Havilland biplanes. Lieutenant Gault from Caruthers field, Fort Worth, Texas, and Machinist Sergeant Darity arrived about 11 o'clock and a few minutes later made a landing in the pasture west of the home of J. L. Barringer in the southern part of town. They came up to bring a propeller for the plane of Lieutenant Bostie Roddie and Lieutenant J. W. Cuff.

Lieutenants Roddie and Cuff began the return journey to Fort Worth last afternoon, after the former had made a short visit to his parents in the northern part of the city. They were hardly out of the city when a cap on the radiator came off and they were forced to land. They carried the plane back to the fair grounds and in landing the propeller was broken at one end.

The De Havilland is a monster machine. The engine is 220 horsepower. On account of the size of the plane, several attempts to land were made before Pilot Gault was able to get to ground safely. In order to avoid going into a fence, a quick turn was made after the machine was on the ground, resulting in the puncturing of one of the tires and slight damage to one of the wings.

All of the flyers were making arrangements to get out of town this afternoon and fly back to Fort Worth before dark.

ENGLISH MIDDLE CLASS ORGANIZING UNION

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Members of the great middle class of England at last have taken steps to organize to protect their own interests against the aggressions of capital on the one hand and increasing wages of workmen on the other. Leaders of the middle class declare that only by organization can they escape an unfair share of the burden of life.

English people of education and moderate incomes have felt for some time that they were being ground between the upper and the lower stones operating in the social mill. Profits of capitalists from war contracts have increased and the wages of workmen steadily advanced. But nobody had to have the services of the professional men, the small business men nor the schoolmaster.

They felt that they simply made up a large part of the population whose public duty it seemed, was to meet constantly increasing costs of living and tax rates without any corresponding increase in income. It was not until now that they summoned sufficient courage to give their protests weight by forming the nucleus of an organization with which both capital and labor may eventually have to reckon.

A preliminary meeting was held under the chairmanship of Major J. R. Pretzman Newman, member of Parliament. It was decided to call the organization the "Middle Class Union." Among the purposes of the union are:

"To remove undue burden upon the middle class, including the cost of living.

"To protect the middle class against bureaucratic and industrial tyranny.

"To combine for common protection of those members of the community who have no organization to safeguard their interests."

Letters appearing in support of the union show that many army officers and other soldiers are deeply interested in the movement. One soldier wrote:

"Unless we of the middle classes organize and combine to thwart and destroy the anarchical aggressions of certain communities in the industrial world, we will sooner or later be bolted out of existence."

How the Middle Class Union will be received in the political field by the capitalists and the trade unions which now monopolize it, remains to be seen.

COL. GEORGE HENRY BRUCE, PIONEER OF ARDMORE DEAD

VILLA FORCES LOSE BATTLE

BAND OF 500 PUT TO FLIGHT BY CARRANZA TROOPS UNDER ZUAZUA.

By the Associated Press

JUAREZ, Mexico, March 21.—Details reached here today of a battle fought Wednesday between 500 Villistas and about the same number of Federals 75 miles south of the New Mexico border. It is stated that 53 Villistas and 16 government men were killed.

According to Gen. Zuazua the battle lasted several hours. Finally the rebels ran out of ammunition and charged Zuazua's ammunition train in an effort to capture it. They were met with a deadly machine gun fire and fled, leaving their dead on the field.

The rebels were commanded by Martin Lopez, a close friend of Villa since boyhood. He is the man who instituted the practice of dynamiting trains and robbing the passengers of everything, even their clothes.

ADA TOWN

Paint furnishes a fairly accurate index to the prosperity and progressiveness of a place. When a prospective citizen sees well painted houses and neatly kept yards it makes a good impression and he naturally feels inclined to become one of the people who have pride in the appearance of things and are prosperous enough to keep their places up to the proper standard.

The German residents in Mexico are up against a hard proposition. During the war they loaned the German ambassador about $2,500,000 for propaganda work in that country and now they want to know who is going to pay it back. It is too much like paying for a dead horse to expect the present German government to pay for it and the chances are that the lenders will be left to hold the empty bag very much like snipe hunters.

BOLSHEVISM AND BASEBALL.
A PARAGRAPH "From the State Press" in The Oklahoma Wednesday, reprinted from the Enid Events, remarked that, "Probably the greatest force in this country working against bolshevism is not the learned economic argument of the professors, but the prospective opening of the baseball season." Many truths are spoken in jest and this is one of them. The importance of play in the scheme of life is tremendous. Neither the playing nor the non-playing nations have appreciated that fact, but both of them are likely to as the result of the war.

Russia knew nothing of sport. Its favorite outdoor pastime, so far most of us are aware, has been mass-aging the Jews. Verboten Fritz knew nothing of play. The German idea of sport has been killing everybody that wasn't a German, or who entertained the hearsay that the German wasn't chosen of God to be over all. He put in forty years getting ready for it. Back from his experience with the army of occupation Grantland Rice has told about city after city in Germany without appointment or accommodation of any kind for sport; also the astonishment with which the Germans gazed at the Americans as they tossed a baseball or staged a series of football maneuvers. It checked the practical German soul that grown men should so scandalously waste their time in such trivial pursuits.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

than that, though if that were all it would be pretty nearly sufficient. But there is the contact, the relaxation, the shelving of the cares that oppress the day, the lifting of the cup that cheers, yes, that yells deliciously, and furnishes an endless theme for discussion.

For a certainty the baseball diamond is a psychological jewel. Long may it shine.

From Archie Bandy.
Hartes, France, Feb. 19, 1919.
Mrs. R. C. Bandy and Family:

Received your letter and was sure glad to know that all were well. This leaves me well and hope when these few lines reach you it will find you well.

Mother, I will tell you something about my experience in war and the riot. We left Hoboken, N. J., on May 19, 1918, landed in Liverpool, England, on the 1st of June, went to Winchester, England, and stayed there three days and on the 4th of June we went to South Hampton, England, and sailed across the channel for France landing in La Havre on the 5th of the same month and went from there by rail to Lacortene, France, where we stayed until August 8th, when we started to Chateau Thierry, but only got within about thirty miles of there when they turned us to Toul and we went into action remaining there about a week, but did not fire a shot. From here we went to the St. Mihiel front where we went into action, the city of Metz being our target. On the 12th of September we started a drive which was the biggest drive that was made, that it was on a front 190 miles long; we were in heavy shell fire there, however, we only lost two men. We remained there just three days and went into action on the Argonne Forest the 6th day of October, where we were in action thirty-four days steady, under shell fire every day, so that on the 30th day of October our infantry was shot up so badly that they had to be relieved by the 80th division and the 15th field artillery was attached to the 80th and we went with them until the 9th of November. When the armistice was signed on the 11th month, 11th day and 11th hour we went to St. Paurmont, France.

Near Luxembourg, Germany, we lost several men and horses and were out in rain and without sleep all the time while we were on the Argonne and Euse front, that being the worst part of the western front.

Your son,
ARCHIE A. BANDY.

Dr. Doan Makes a Great Discovery; Influenza Curable.

The best medical brains of America have been baffled by the influenza epidemic. Authorities disagree as to its cause. But Dr. Doan of Oklahoma has made a wonderful discovery in connection with its cure. Thirty years ago he made a preparation which has cured many cases of severe pneumonia. When influenza came he prescribed it, and with wonderful results. Patients have recovered after they had been coughing blood for a day.

The vapor or odor from "In-Hale-It" is drawn deep into the lungs. The severe pain in the lungs stops almost instantly. It is necessary to repeat the inhaling of this vapor. If the patient goes to sleep so much the better. A recent case in Ottawa county is interesting. The patient despaired. So much "In-Hale-It" was used that it brought sleep. In the excitement of the moment part of the bottle was spilled in the patient's mouth, but no harm was done. Today the patient has fully recovered. There are hundreds of such cases where "In-Hale-It" has saved lives. Get a bottle today and be ready. Treat your cold with it. Any good druggist sells "In-Hale-It" for 50c. By mail 60c. Prepaid by Doan's Pharmacy, Miami, Okla.

IGNORANT OF WAR'S ENDING

Fort McPherson, Near Arctic Ocean, Will Be Notified by Semi-Annual Mail.

Detroit, Mich.—There will be no premature peace celebration at Fort McPherson, Can., 70 miles south of the Arctic ocean, for Fort McPherson will not know that the war is over until some time in the near future.

The news will reach this trading post in the semi-annual arctic mail which left Fort McMurray, proposed terminal of the Alberta & Great Waterways railway, by dog team December 1. The news is included in 250 pounds of mail carried by two sledges, pulled by ten dogs each and driven by veteran "mushers." The distance is 1,500 miles as the crow flies, but considerably longer over the frozen Athabasca and Mackenzie Rivers.

The hardened drivers will rest a week at Fort McPherson, then begin the long trek back to civilization. The territory traversed includes the great barrens deep under snow that begins falling in September. The barrens are known for blizzards which sweep from the frozen sea across unobstructed leagues of snow covered and uninhabited wilderness.

COLORADO LECTURER FAVORS EMIGRATION TO LIBERIA
G. W. Washington, formerly of Stone wall, lectured to a large crowd of the colored population of Ada Wednesday evening at the First Colored Baptist church.

Washington favors the colonization of his race in Africa, especially in Liberia, the colored republic on the west coast, where they might have better opportunity to utilize their ability. He urges the United States government to furnish free transportation to all who desire to locate anywhere in the "Dark continent." He is preparing to return to Liberia and make his home there.

STRATFORD WANTS TO JOIN PONTOTOC

STRATFORD LEADER GIVES REASONS FOR LEAVING GARVIN COUNTY.

From Stratford Leauer.

The question is now being talked of detaching a strip three miles wide and fifteen miles long from the East end of Garvin county and joining the same to Pontotoc County. In this matter, we should be governed not by whether or not Pauls Valley wants to keep us, or whether Ada wants us or not, but by whether it is for our own best interests to make the move. Outside of courts and business connected with the county seat, few if any of our people would ever go to Pauls Valley, as there is very little if any business relationship between the business men of Stratford and those of Pauls Valley.

The roads are and always have been extremely bad between the two places, especially when you get near Pauls Valley.

There is no direct railroad communication between Stratford and Pauls Valley. On the other hand, Ada is a rapidly growing city with a splendid state normal school. We have a railroad running directly into Ada. They have recently expended thousands of dollars building a first class road right up to your door. We have rapidly growing business relations with the business men of Ada. Our young people and our teachers attend the normal school. More of our people now go to Ada than go to Pauls Valley in spite of the fact that Pauls Valley is the county seat. In fact every good reason and sound facts point to Ada as our logical county seat. While on the other hand Pauls Valley, situated as it is in the mire, mud and bogs of the Washita River has no attraction for us and there is no community of interest between us.

Since statehood Stratford has loyally and zealously supported Pauls Valley in everything she has asked for. In the county seat fight we generously supported her against her arch enemy, Wynnewood.

In the court house bond issue we did the same. We have co-operated with the county officials in their very wish, nearly all of whom are Pauls Valley citizens.

We have never received any favors from Pauls Valley. They seem to think that all our support is due them as a matter of course, and that they owe us nothing for it.

Not one of our citizens has even been elected to fill a county office. Many have run but none have been chosen. No citizen has ever carried Pauls Valley for a county office. Pauls Valley seems to think that all the good things, offices, courthouse, county seat, roads, etc., etc., belongs to them.

Wednesday afternoon of this week twenty-five automobiles full of boosters came over from Ada to show their good faith and to welcome Stratford and the citizens who live in the three by fifteen mile strip to join Pontotoc county. The boosters from Pontotoc county were more than glad to learn that 95 per cent of the legal voters of the strip were in favor of annexing this part of the county to Pontotoc county, the petitioners in evidence for themselves and proved to the visitors that the citizens of this part of Garvin county meant business.

Joe A. Edwards welcomed the boosters in behalf of Stratford, he was followed by several short talks from the visitors. Stratford appreciates the earnest and friendship of Ada. Come again friends.

NEWS NOTES FROM EAST CENTRAL NORMAL

(From the East Centralite.)

Professor B. A. Pratt, East Central's agriculture teacher, has taken an active interest in the food drives in this county. He has made several trips into various parts of the county in connection with this work.

Pruett Stiles, who will be remembered as a former student of the Normal from Non, has accepted a position at Washington with the War Risk Insurance bureau, where he is now stationed.

Captain J. Byron Sledge, a former student of East Central and who served overseas, having reached the rank of Acting Major, has returned and been discharged. Captain Sledge won high honors in the service and reached the highest rank held by a former student.

Several former students who served with the famous Thirty-sixth division, are expected home during the present month. The Rainbow division, also containing East Centralites, are scheduled to reach New York in April. At least two of those veterans are expected to return to the Normal to complete their work for graduation.

During the absence of Professor Perkins from the Normal School in the winter term, Professor Robinson took Mr. Perkins' place as chairman of the classification committee. Mr. Robinson has done the work exceedingly well and because of the fact that Mr. Perkins' work as director of the training school will take a great deal of his time, Mr. Robinson will be continued as chairman of the classification committee.

Joe W. Roper, George Overturn and Jack Cannon, all of whom have recently been honorably discharged from service, have entered the Normal to complete their work. The list will, probably, be greatly extended during the summer term, as a large number of soldiers have signified their intention of returning to the profession.

Miss Ruth E. Erwin of 1018 East Ninth street, was hostess to the Phi Beta club on last Tuesday evening, March 4, when they initiated Misses Della Sherman and Doris Vettes into the mysteries of their organization. After the initiation dainty refreshments were served. Miss Stella Watson, the faculty adviser of the Phi Beta, was chaperone.

The members of the Normal School Y. W. C. A. distinguished themselves as hostesses on Thursday evening, March 6, when they tendered an informal reception to all the teachers who were in attendance on the East Central Association. The library, in which the reception was held, was tastefully decorated in blue and white, the colors of the association, and members of the organization, dressed in white frocks, served punch to all who heeded the call to "come to the sign of the blue triangle."

The faculty social committee, assisted by the girls of the Phi Beta club, held an informal reception for the East Central and Durant Normal School basketball teams at the close of the game last Saturday evening. Sandwiches in abundance and hot chocolate helped to revive the drooping spirits of the Durant team, and to add further to the pleasure of the victorious Ada boys. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilson and Coach P. E. Laird of Durant were also honor guests of the occasion.

Coach E. C. Wilson is very busy getting ready for the Fourth Congressional District High School Basketball Meet which will be held here Friday afternoon and evening, and Saturday morning, of the week of March 14-15. This meet is preliminary to the State Meet which will be held at Edmond. Eight teams will participate in the contests here. The Normal school will provide entertainment and furnish officials for all the games. The costs used by the members of the S. A. T. C. will be pressed into service and the boys will sleep in the Normal school building. Meals will be served in the S. A. T. C. mess hall.

Take HERBINE for indigestion. It relieves the pain in a few minutes and forces the fermented matter which causes the misery into the bowels where it is expelled. Price 60c. Sold by Bart Smith.

The Home Economics club held a reception on Friday afternoon, March 7, from 2:30 to 5 o'clock, in honor of former members of the organization. The club colors, turquoise, blue and white, predominated in the decorations of the domestic art room, where the reception was held. A large photograph of the little French orphan which the club is supporting, had a conspicuous place. Cut flowers and wall panels of blue and white helped to make the room altogether charming. Miss Francisco, head of the Home Economics Department; Mrs. Wilbur P. Lee and Miss Iva McAllister, former presidents of the club; Mrs. Lena Maxey-Adair, the first vice-president of the club; and Miss Gertrude Clinkenbeard, the present president, received the guests. Punch was served throughout the afternoon. Small white cards, each with the name of the club, and a sprig of turquoise blue flowers deftly painted on it, constituted the favors. An Edison machine furnished music for the occasion.

TODAY'S RELIGIOUS THOUGHT

Insincerity.

Insincerity has some curses, some causes and some cures. David said in Psalm 51:6, "Thou desirest truth in the inward parts."

David is like the Saviour of the world in that he would trace men's creeds down into their deeds. Many find it difficult to be sincere because they see in life manifold insincerities. The fierce struggle for existence is assigned by some as reason for lack of sincerity, while still others say that we are living in an era of transition, and become insincere in recasting and resetting programs and ideals.

Insincerity also has a three fold curse. It takes all the dignity out of life and makes it a mean thing indeed. It mars and distorts character and undermines a man's influence. I may be narrow and still demand the respect of my fellows, but let me be insincere and my influence for good is gone.

The cure of insincerity demands a deep respect for self. We need all to know that to be ourselves is to be sincere. A practical recognition of the presence of God in my life helps me toward sincerity. He is cured of insincerity who takes Christ as his constant comrad.

The ladies of the Red Cross who have served so faithfully during the crisis of the war are urging the women of the town to report at the Red Cross rooms and help to complete 120 pairs of pajamas, which will finish up all of the sewing on hand.

Quit Betting On A Sure Loss

Occasionally we meet a man who wants to build a home, but is waiting until material gets cheaper. He goes on spending for rent, betting the family funds that later he can build for less.

It's a losing game. Building materials, in the opinion of experts, will not be much cheaper for five years or more, during which time, should you build NOW, you would almost pay for a home.

THE RED CROSS PLANS FOR PEACE

MISS LARCH-MILLER OF SHAWNEE MAKES INTERESTING ADDRESS.

Miss Larch-Miller of Shawnee, official field secretary of the Nursing Department of the Southwestern Division of Oklahoma presented a peace plan on Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the executive committee at the Red Cross headquarters which answered that vital question of all Red Cross servants, "Now that the war is over, what is the Red Cross going to do?" As a matter of fact, during the period of war the Red Cross had certain and specific duties which were very effectively carried out, but now that hostilities have ceased surely there is something else worth while to be done by this organization, which has so faithfully administered to the manhood of our Nation. In order to minister national relief through the Red Cross, the plan for each city, town or community to have a trained nurse has been contrived.

The day is past when the intelligent mother says, "I just know from instinct how to care for my children." If the Red Cross can be the means of teaching hundreds and thousands of mothers how to care more intelligently for their own sick, would it not be a noble work?

Perhaps in one summer, in a single town, one hundred babies may die of summer complaint and nothing is thought or said of it "except the moanings of mothers." But let there be one hundred children burned to death in a school fire and the entire state will rise up and cry out in pain and demand the ones at fault to be hunted out and punished.

Through the medium of the Red Cross, Miss Larch-Miller explained, in a very practical way, how the mothers of the coming generation may be given an opportunity to combat with the many epidemics that scourge our land.

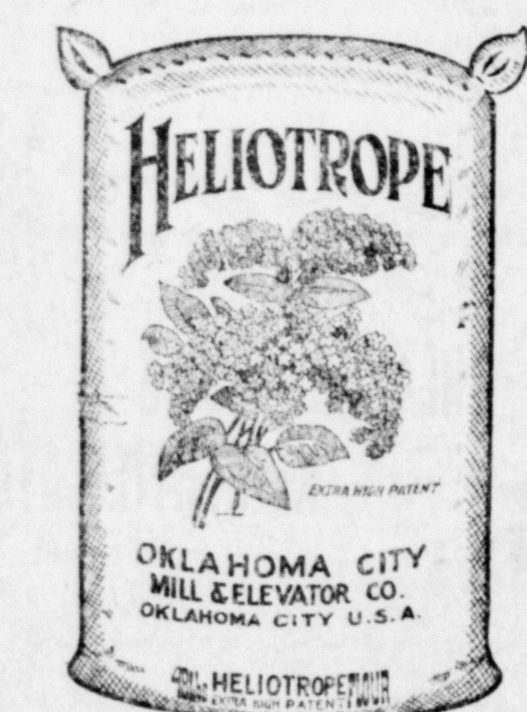

Details of the Plan.
The Department of Nursing is preparing a corps of traveling instructors whose duty it shall be to go to those cities, towns and villages of the Southwestern Division where there is no resident instructor and teach classes in home hygienics and the care of the sick.

Tulsa has carried out this plan and is achieving wonderful results, as well as Bartlesville, Pawhuska and other towns.

Those present on yesterday afternoon were impressed very much with the practicability of the plan presented by Miss Larch-Miller and Ada considers herself very fortunate, indeed, in securing such an intelligent wide-awake woman to submit this new peace plan toward the betterment of our country and administering to suffering humanity.

White Sewing Machine Manager Believes Tanlac Will Help All Other Sufferers.

"If it hadn't been for what other people said about Tanlac I might be suffering yet, and nobody need fear Tanlac is made," said H. A. Morrison, local manager for White Sewing Machine Co., Dallas, Tex., and living at 3517 Brown street, that city.

"I suffered from a long-standing and stubborn case of stomach trouble," he continued. "My stomach was nearly always full of gas that gave me no end of misery, and I had to quit eating most everything but broth and other light diet. I had such an awful pain in my right side that I couldn't stand up straight and sometimes I would almost double up in agony. I had terrible headaches, my sleep was so broken it didn't do me any good and I felt tired and worn out all the time."

"I read of a man in Tennessee who had gotten relief from the same trouble as mine by taking Tanlac, so I decided to try it. Before I had finished my first bottle I began to feel better and a few more made me feel like a different man. I set as hungry as a bear at meal times, eat anything I want and nothing hurts me at all. I sleep as sound as a log and get up full of life energy. I have already gained eight pounds and my work is a real pleasure to me now."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co. (Adv.)

CARRIED DEFIANT MESSAGE

Corporal Lowell Hollingshead of Mount Sterling, O., a member of the "Lost Battalion" of the Three Hundred and Eighth Infantry, who carried the German demand for surrender that brought forth Lieutenant Colonel Whittlesey's now famous response of "Go to hell." Corporal Hollingshead with seven companions had volunteered to penetrate the German lines to bring relief to the boys of the Three Hundred and Eighth surrounded in the Argonne forest. Four of the men were killed and the remaining four wounded and captured. Hollingshead was sent back to the American lines with the German demand for surrender. He had been shot through the leg and after delivering his message fell unconscious.

NECKTIE IS A BAROMETER

When Man Wears Red Scarf He Can Predict Weather for 24 Hours.

Irondequoit, N. Y.—Clarence Clendenon, a young married man of this village, says he has something new and unique in the line of barometers. It is in the form of a red necktie his wife presented him as a Christmas present. He says that every time he has an inclination to wear it he can tell exactly what the weather is going to be for the next 24 hours.

The tie is a silk one and its color, when the weather is extremely warm for winter, is the brightest red imaginable. When a cold wave is approaching the color of the tie turns to a pale red, and while its pinkish tone is still quite beautiful, it is many shades lighter than scarlet.

One day Clarence thought the tie would look well with a new brown suit, which he was to wear to a small dinner party. When he took it from the drawer of his dresser he noticed that its color was very light pink, almost a lavender shade. This told him that the night would turn very cold. It did, the thermometer going below zero before nine o'clock the next morning, making good his predictions at the dinner party, where he amazed the guests with an explanation of his necktie barometer.

Since the dinner party he has found the tie to be perfectly reliable as a silent weather prophet, and scientists here are all worked up over the strange phenomenon. Clarence says he wouldn't take $100 for the tie, although he expects to be offered that sum for it.

His Redemption

By GENEVIEVE ULMAR

(Copyright 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)
"I must have done it—the witness probably speaks the truth. Perhaps it would be best to shut me up away from the world for a time. I will take my punishment like a man."

And like a man Blake Arnold faced judge and jury, nor defiant, nor resentful, nor grandiose, but with contrition, shame and submission in his face. There was little doubt that while under the influence of strong drink and lured on by specious tempters he had forged a check upon his former employers to pay off a gambling debt.

"Five years in the state penitentiary at hard labor," was the sentence, and the prisoner simply bowed his head and did not lift it as he was led away. Then it was to sweep the courtroom with one swift, probing glance. His face fell. If he hoped to find a friendly or familiar face there he was doomed to disappointment.

Wild, reckless spendthrift that he was, he had reached the end of his rope. A year previous, urged on by his riotous acts, his father, a man of wealth, had turned him out of his home and disowned him. Six months later the parents of his fiancée, sorrowful but loyal, had told him that she had been sent away to distant friends where he could not find her and that all was over between them.

More latterly Lettie had accepted the decision of father and betrothed. He had plunged into new recklessness. They were doubtless aware of his predicament, but no one had extended a helping hand. As a common criminal, Blake Arnold was shut out from the world as a branded man, and stolidly, doggedly accepted the dull, irksome routine of prison life.

And all the time poor, pining Lettie passed her days in vain longing for a sight of the only man she had ever loved and her nights were tearful ones. She could not forget, and she told her parents so. Practically exiled with an aged aunt, she faithfully kept her promise not to write to Blake, and when his final downfall was announced in the public prints her aunt found her staring at the dread intelligence in a dazed, stony way as if a final blow had prostrated her.

"My poor, suffering dove!" sobbed the gentle-spirited woman. "Do not become utterly heartbroken."
"No," answered Lettie quietly. "I shall only wait."
"You will wait?" repeated her aunt vaguely.

"For his release and his redemption. Both will come in time. His love for me can never die. It will purify and save him. We shall meet again—sometime, somewhere."

Two years had passed by when the United States entered the war. Lettie found some relief from her anguish by contributing her services to Red Cross home work. It was late in the year when her aunt, opening a morning newspaper, stared, paled, and hastening furtively into another room, thrust the newspaper into a blazing grate. She had read in the journal of the escape from prison of Blake Arnold, an honor convict, whose good conduct entitled him to a remission of his sentence, and whose case had been favorably regarded by the pardon board.

So Lettie mourned on and dreamed on, all unaware that the man she could not forget was free. Her aunt fretted and feared for many weeks, dreading the possible appearance of Blake in quest of Lettie. He did not come, nor did any letter, and the months rolled on.

It was late in the year when the boys came marching home. There was a fragmentary contingent of a regiment which had displayed the highest valor in one of the most desperate battles of the war. The son of the governor of the state was in the group, and the idol of the regiment was a soldier, Berton Arleigh, who had saved the life of the young man and had led a forlorn hope that had turned the tide of the conflict. Berton Arleigh had been terribly wounded and was on the convalescent list when what was left of the valorous regiment reached the home town.

The people of the capital could not do enough to honor these men, and the son of the governor had invited Berton Arleigh to become his guest. One day and night the young man remained in the palatial home of the officials. The next morning he sought a private interview with the governor.

"I think it best to quietly leave you without the knowledge of your son," he said, and then to the amazement of his auditor he disclosed his true identity. He was Blake Arnold, and the intense patriotism of his nature, the keen willingness to redeem the past by giving his life for his country, if necessary, had influenced him to surprisingly leave the prison.

"You are more than a hero," declared the deeply moved official. "You will remain here my honored guest until I gather up the scattered strands of your broken life and cement them anew."

A pardon, rehabilitation in all men's eyes and a meeting with Lettie—all these elements were stages in the plan of the father of the soldier boy who owed his life to Blake Arnold.

The Most Important Question of The Day to the man about to buy a new Springsuit is "where will I find the most wool and wear for my money?"

When he has solved this problem, he has conquered the world so far as the eagles on his American dollars are concerned, but until he finds out, he's a lamb in the hands of the shearer's daughter, with father coming in on the next train.

This being a clothing advertisement, we wouldn't attempt to directly offer the answer, although we know it.

We do, however, invite that man to see these MICHAEL STERN Spring suits at—

and in the same breath suggest that he compares them with any other clothes in Ada at the same figures.

SMALL BLAZE IN VAN'S TAILOR SHOP

This morning a fire alarm was turned in from Van's tailor shop on South Broadway. The fire company responded instantly and had the fire extinguished in a few minutes.

The blaze started in the drying closet, probably from a gas stove, and some suits hanging in it were destroyed.

This is the first time the boys have been called out since January 15, with one exception the longest period between alarms in recent years. The best record was made in 1911 when there was no alarm between June 27 and October 17. On the last named date the compress burned together with several hundred bales of cotton.

11TH AMMUNITION TRAIN EXPECTED HOME WEDNESDAY

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The 11th Ammunition Train probably will be in Oklahoma City next Wednesday.

Information was given out by the war department today that the train will leave Newport News Saturday, going west by way of Memphis. Stops have been authorized at McAlester and Oklahoma City.

Belief is expressed today that the arrival in Oklahoma City will take place Wednesday, but the exact date cannot be arranged before Saturday, war department officials said.

Mack Fleming was in from Maxwell today for the first time in several weeks. He says farmers are busy planting corn and will plant about as much feed as usual. He is rather skeptical of a general reduction of cotton acreage anywhere in the cotton belt as similar moves in the past have seldom produced noticeable results.

A pain in the side or back that catches you when you straighten up calls for a rubbing application of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It relaxes the contracted muscles and permits ordinary bodily motion without suffering or inconvenience. Price 25c. 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Bart Smith.

GREAT LESSON IN SPREADING EVIL

If ever a photoplay was based on a daring foundation, even if the same be not a plot, the morality play, "The Spreading Evil," shown yesterday at the Washington theater in this city and to be presented again today, may safely be described as "the real goods," with the curtain of prudery drawn aside. This deserves favorable mention, less for the method of presentation, than for the fact that the people of this nation are being enlightened on a subject which has been sapping for years the very vitals of moral and physical energy of the world.

That "The Spreading Evil" has received the approval of such men in the nation's public life as Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, is merely an incident, for the serious consideration of every mother and father in this country, as well as of every young woman and young man, who can intelligently grasp the depth of plain spoken reiteration of the scriptural warning, "Lead us not into temptation."

"The spreading evil" has been placing its deadly fangs upon innocent manhood and womanhood for years without a specific remedy. Life has been a war with disease since that unknown time. To many it has repeatedly come as a shock that the average human being looks upon social diseases as something easily cured. Few seem to be aware that there is one such disease requiring for years all the skill of the scientists of the world to master it.

To fight this war against the nation's worst enemy, the people are beginning to lay aside the custom of shocked modesty and are actually listening to common sense. James Keane, late of the Thos. H. Ince studios, has dared to enter where angels feared to tread. There are in the United States hundreds, perhaps thousands of Dr. Carey's strength in effort to aid the poor, but William A. Hackett's portrayal of this character lends beauty, as well as a well-founded condemnation of the quack doctors of this country.
